

Chapter 1 : Bible for Children » Free Bible Stories to Download

Enjoy this wonderful animated Bible story for all children. Father John teaches Lucy, Matthew and George the story of our creation. In this episode learn how our God created this world, the.

Bible stories are helpful for teaching children, and they also have vital lessons for people of all ages. The Bible is full of stories, from Genesis clear to Revelation. Entire books of the Bible are dedicated to telling a specific story. Some of these are stories of good triumphing over evil, while others are heartrending stories that tell of death and destruction. Some stories are funny; some are poignant; and some just make you shake your head. What is the purpose behind all of these stories? Are they simply fairy tales? Did God supply the stories to break the monotony between genealogies and laws? There is a purpose for the wide variety of stories. Every Bible story has a purpose—as would be expected of a book inspired by the great and purposeful Almighty God. The apostle Paul listed some of the purposes for the Bible in 2 Timothy 3: God also recorded these stories to help parents in the vital job of teaching their children. We hope the Bible stories in this section see the links below this article will help people of all ages, and especially parents reading them to their children. Whether for our education or to encourage us, there is always a reason God placed each story in the Bible. Though some of the stories of the Bible, such as the parables, are illustrations used to teach a lesson, all the examples in this article refer to real-life, historically accurate accounts that God also recorded for our learning.

Learning from the bad examples One purpose of Bible stories is so we can learn from the bad examples 1 Corinthians The Bible has many stories that reveal to us examples of humans trying to live life without God or succumbing to one of many human weaknesses. Uzziah became king when he was only 16 years old, and he had a long reign that was full of military victories. He was one of the few kings who had a personal relationship with God and was successful. Proud because of his power and the strength that God had given him, he decided that he would offer incense up to God, something God had commanded that only the priests should do. When the priests resisted Uzziah and tried to tell him that it was not his place, he grew angry with them. While he was arguing with the priests who had dared to go against him, God cursed him with leprosy. He was forced to live by himself for the rest of his life. There are many good examples in the Bible as well. One of these is the example of Hezekiah, another king of Judah. When threatened with imminent destruction at the hands of the mighty Assyrians, Hezekiah asked God for assistance. Instead of being arrogant like Uzziah had been, Hezekiah tore his clothes and knelt before God. When he received a letter from the enemy, he laid it before God and humbly asked God for His help 2 Kings If Hezekiah had relied on his own feeble strength to pull him through, he would have almost certainly been annihilated. However, since he relied on God, his enemy was destroyed and his kingdom was safe for many more years. Another excellent example in the Bible is that of the heroine of the book of Ruth. After losing her husband and father-in-law, Ruth stayed loyal to Naomi, her grieving mother-in-law, and went with her to the land of Israel. After arriving in Israel, she worked diligently to provide for both herself and Naomi. Her loyalty and hard work were noticed by several, including a wealthy farmer named Boaz. He made sure that Ruth and Naomi were taken care of, and he eventually married Ruth. She was rewarded, and God greatly blessed her and the woman to whom she was so loyal.

Learning about God Because God is a great, infinite and invisible Being, how do we come to comprehend who He really is? How can we learn about God? How do we know who God is and what He is like? We can learn about Him through what others say in the Bible. There we see the extreme measures to which God will go in order to keep His word. He did this in order to free the enslaved Israelites due to a promise He had made to Abraham hundreds of years before. God demonstrated clearly to the descendants of Abraham—and to us—that He is completely truthful and fulfills all His promises. The Gospels also help us learn more about God. More than that, these four books record His story for us to read. For example, most people know that Jesus Christ was a man of peace, but did that mean He would just always let people disrespect God and His temple? We can find the answer in Mark During a visit to the temple in Jerusalem, Christ saw that there were profiteers who were making money off of the poor, God-fearing people who came to worship their Creator in the temple. We know God better and more clearly through the real-life stories documented in the Bible.

Giving encouragement Some Bible stories are also very encouraging on a personal level. In the midst of all of the rich men giving large offerings to God in the temple, Jesus Christ took the time to notice a poor widow who gave two little coins. He realized that it was everything she had, and He pointed this out to His disciples. There are many encouraging stories of God miraculously delivering His people as wellâ€”from Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-Nego, whom God saved from death in an incredibly hot furnace Daniel 3 , to the apostle Paul, who was stoned to the point that his enemies thought he was dead Acts The great Creator God healed or perhaps even resurrected Paul! They can lift up our spirits when times are tough. Why is there evil in the world? Why do the good suffer? There are Bible stories that help us more deeply understand the answers to many questions like these. The Bible tells us that there is evil in the world because of the rebellion and deceitfulness of a demonic being called Lucifer and Satan Isaiah After swaying a third of the angels to his evil way of thinking, he started a rebellion against the Almighty and was cast to the earth. He even tried to tempt Christ to disobey God Matthew 4: Without the Bible, the answers to these key questions of life would remain hidden or only academic. The biblical stories bring the answers to life and give us hope. There is a purpose for Bible stories The many stories in the Bible are given for a reason and a purpose. New articles are being added frequently, so check back often.

Chapter 2 : The Story of Moses for Kids (Printable Bible Lessons) â€™ calendrierdelascience.com

In this episode, learn how God created our world, the heavens, the earth and every living thing including Adam. In this story, Adam disobeys God's commands and he is banished from the Garden of Eden.

Genesis 1 is the foundational chapter for the entire Bible. It not only tells us how everything started, but it establishes the basic teaching on who God is and who we are in relationship to him. This is the source of human dignity, and it is why we pursue spiritual growth, so we will look more like him. Like Noah, it challenges us to step out in faith. Abraham must do two things: When he does, God makes an eternal covenant with him and with all his descendants, Israel and the church. We too must follow the pattern of our father: The authors of the New Testament refer to Abraham as the person with whom God made the covenant as the father of the nation of Israel. God is faithful to his promises, and all praise and honor go to him. Exodus 33 contains the account of how God could not let Moses see him or Moses would have died; but he does allow Moses to see the back of his glory. This is the essence of Christianity: After all, God created us to have fellowship with us. We were created for community with him. But Leviticus also teaches us that God forgives, that a sacrifice can pay the penalty of our sin if we repent, and in so doing prepares us for the cross of Jesus. It calls us to rigorous monotheism in which we refuse to worship idols of any shape. Once the Israelites were given the Promised Land, for the most part they failed to renew the covenant and failed to receive the blessings from God. The same is true of our own families. Saul, the first king, did not learn the lesson that God is still king, and what matters for us is to remain faithful. Unfortunately, many people make the same mistake as Saul. Mounce refers to "theodicy" at the first of the lecture, he means, "theocracy. We will update the audio when we are able. It is an account of how faith propels us to trust God, no matter what the appearances. It is not enough to know the truth; you have to do it. Wisdom begins with knowing that God knows best. The question is, will you continue to trust God in the difficult times? In our day, we are faced with the same challenge, especially the mixing of Christianity and secular culture. Elijah challenges us to not have divided hearts or divided loyalties. As God reveals himself to us, and we must respond appropriately.

Chapter 3 : Bible App for Kids on the App Store

The Story of Moses for Kids (Bible Lessons) Print PDF Written by Felicia Mollohan - Published November 5, Leave a Comment This page is the main index for our series of Bible lessons based on the life of Moses.

If you consent, you are giving us permission to track your online behavior with technologies such as cookies, beacons, tags and scripts used by CPH and our partners such as advertising, marketing and analytics , affiliates, or service providers. In the event that you have or in the future create an account with us, we will collect personally identifiable information about you, such as your full name, address, phone number, email address, or similar, for the purpose of providing our services to you. Please see the privacy policy in full below. You can provide your consent by clicking I Consent; if you prefer to not continue to our website, click Decline or leave this page. We will not use or share your information with anyone except as described in this Privacy Policy. This Privacy Policy also applies to information we collect by other means including offline or from other sources. The use of information collected through our Sites shall be limited to the purposes under this Privacy Policy and our terms of service to customers. If you choose to purchase a product from us, we or our third-party payment processors will collect your payment information. We also may collect data through our partners on their websites or mobile applications. When you visit such websites or mobile applications, we may receive certain information about you as described below. We do send promotional emails and we may send you service related emails related to your account. If you no longer wish to receive these emails, you may opt out of them at privacy cph. We may receive reports based on the use of these technologies by such companies on an individual as well as aggregated basis. Our partners may also use such technologies to deliver advertisements to you as described below. Users can control the use of cookies at the individual browser level. If you reject cookies, you may still use our Sites, but your ability to use some features or areas of our Sites may be limited c We are headquartered in the United States of America. Personal information may be accessed by us or transferred to us in the United States or to our affiliates, partners, merchants, or service providers elsewhere in the world. By providing us with personal information, you consent to this transfer. For example, when you access our Sites, our servers automatically record certain information that your web browser sends whenever you visit any website. We do not link this automatically-collected data to personally identifiable information. Individuals seeking to access or correct, amend or delete inaccurate data on CPH Web Products should direct his or her query directly with the Entity who has collected that information. For example, a church may collect personal information about members and input it into a church management software program licensed from CPH. In the event an individual desires to access or correct, amend or delete such data, the individual should contact the church directly. CPH will retain this personal information as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes and enforce our agreements. How We Use Your Information. We use the information that we collect to operate and maintain our Sites, send you marketing communications, and respond to your questions and concerns. How We Share Your Information. CPH will not rent or sell your personally identifiable information to others. We may store personal information in locations outside the direct control of CPH for instance, on servers or databases co-located with hosting providers. Any personally identifiable information you elect to make publicly available on our Sites, such as posting comments on our blog page, will be available to others. If you remove information that you have made public on our Sites, copies may remain viewable in cached and archived pages of our Sites, or if other users have copied or saved that information. Some of our services are managed by a third party application that may require you to register to use or post a comment. We do not have access or control of the information posted. You will need to contact or login into the third party application if you want the personal information that was posted removed. To learn how the third party application uses your information, please review their privacy policy. We partner with third parties to display advertising on our Sites and to manage our advertising on other sites. Our third party partners may use technologies such as cookies to gather information about your activities on other sites in order to provide you advertising based upon your browsing activities and interests. If you access the CPH Service or Sites on your mobile device, you may not be able to control tracking technologies through the settings. We collect information globally and primarily store that information in the United States. We transfer, process and store your information outside your country of residence, wherever we or our third-party service providers operate for the purposes of providing you the services. You agree that CPH may store and process personal data in the United States of America and any other country where CPH or its third-party service providers maintain facilities. Whenever we transfer your information, we take steps necessary to protect it. How We Protect Your Information. CPH is concerned with protecting your privacy and data, but we cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to CPH or guarantee that your information may not be accessed, disclosed, altered or destroyed by breach of any of our industry standard physical, technical or managerial safeguards. Therefore, we cannot guarantee its absolute security. We use an outside a credit card processing company to process your payment if you purchase goods or services from CPH. Compromise of Personal Information. In the event that personal information is compromised as a breach of security, CPH will promptly notify our affected customers in compliance with applicable law. Our Choices About Your Information. For current CPH customers, you can review, correct, update or delete inaccuracies to the information about you that CPH keeps on file by logging into your account to update your password and billing information. We will acknowledge your request and handle it promptly. We will retain your information for as long as your account is active or as needed to provide you services. We will retain and use your information as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes and enforce our agreements. Protecting the privacy of young children is especially important. For that reason, CPH does not knowingly collect or solicit personal information from anyone under the age of 13. In the event that we learn that we have collected personal information from a child under age 13, we will delete that information as quickly as possible. It is our policy to provide notifications, whether such notifications are required by law or are for marketing or other business related purposes, to you via email, written or hard copy notice, or through conspicuous posting of such notice on the Sites, as determined by CPH in its sole discretion. We reserve the right to determine the form and means of providing notifications to you, provided that you may opt out of certain means of notification as described in this Privacy Policy. Links to Other Web Sites. We are not responsible for the practices employed by websites or services linked to or from the CPH Sites, including the information or content contained therein. Please remember that when you use a link to go from the CPH Sites to another website or service, our Privacy Policy does not apply to third-party websites or services. Our Site includes social media features, such as the Facebook Like button and other widgets that run on our Site. These features may collect your IP address and which page you are visiting on our Site, and may set a cookie to enable the feature to function properly. Social media features and widgets are either hosted by a third party or hosted directly on our Site. Your interactions with these features are governed by the privacy policy of the organization providing it. CPH occasionally offers contests. The full rules for our contests are clearly posted during each contest. CPH may, from time to time, invite you to participate in online surveys. The information requested in these surveys may include, but is not limited to, your opinions, beliefs, insights, ideas, activities, experience, purchase history, and purchase intent regarding products, events and services. The information collected by these surveys is used to research market trends, church trends, ministry growth, congregation and community needs. Your input will help us to improve customer experience, shape new product development, equip church ministry effectiveness and enhance products for your spiritual growth and experience. CPH welcomes your comments and feedback regarding our Sites. For this reason, we ask you not to send us any information or materials that you do not wish to assign to us, including, without limitation, any confidential information or any original creative materials such as product ideas, computer code, or original artwork. By submitting Feedback to CPH through our Sites or elsewhere, you assign to us, free of charge, all worldwide rights, title and interest in all copyrights and other intellectual property rights in the Feedback you submit. CPH will be entitled to use any Feedback you submit to it, and any ideas, concepts, know-how or techniques contained in any such Feedback, for any purpose whatsoever, including but not limited to developing, manufacturing and marketing products and services using such Feedback without restriction and without compensating you in any way. You are responsible for the information and other content contained in any Feedback you submit to us, including, without limitation, their truthfulness and accuracy. Changes to Our Privacy Policy. All changes to this Privacy Policy are effective when they are posted on this page. Continued use of the Sites following any such changes means you accept and will abide by these changes. Concordia Publishing House, Attn: Privacy Policy, S. Louis, MO Error, please try again. For questions contact us at privacy@cph.

Chapter 4 : Concordia Publishing House

DLTK's Bible Activities for Kids Children's Versions of Bible Stories. by Sharla Guenther. Free Bible stories written in a language that children can understand.

Every girl in the kingdom to enter by order of the king," her cousin Mordecai explained. I know what a lovely person you are and I want to make sure you stay that way. For you, I will go cheerfully. There is one last thing you must promise me. The next morning, Esther packed her bags. She was happy that her cousin would be able to visit her quite often as he worked at the palace as a minor official. Esther carefully combed her long dark hair and gazed longingly out the window. Mordecai walked by, stopped and turned back. I prayed all last night that God would make the King choose someone else. Sometimes he forgot how young she still was. So you must ask for what God wants. I put my trust in You. Mordecai smiled and kissed Esther on the forehead, "That sounds perfect. And every night she prayed that God would help her do His will. Because of her gentle nature Esther became friends with him. Hegai placed Esther and her servants in the best room in the palace and brought her small gifts. Twelve months passed and it was time for Esther to go see the King. When they had reached the throne room, Esther took a deep breath and knelt before King Xerxes. She looked up at his smiling face and blushed slightly, which pleased him too. Beauty of the flesh and of the heart! You have cared for her well, and her beauty surpasses all others, inside and out. He missed Esther but was happy to be able to see her almost every day. He was saddened that she had to hide the fact that she was a Jew from the King. Mordecai shook his head. Perhaps we could bribe one of the servants. He flattened himself against the wall for fear of being seen and continued listening as they finalized their plot to kill King Xerxes in his sleep the following night. As soon as it was safe, Mordecai rushed to see Esther. Why in the world would they want to do something like that? You must warn the King right away," Mordecai urged. I will tell him immediately. Esther bowed and the King took her hand. Esther rose and said, "Terish and Bigthan are plotting to kill you, my lord. They plan to bribe your servant and kill you tomorrow night while you sleep. King Xerxes then called over several guards and told them what Esther had said. Meanwhile, Mordecai sat outside the palace gates watching the people run around, doing their various activities. Just then a loud trumpet was blown. Mordecai looked down the road to see several men carrying another man in a tall chair. It was Haman, a court official. Haman always made people bow to him, but Mordecai never did -- he bowed before God and no other. When Haman passed by him, Mordecai sat quietly, only looking at the ground. Soon he looked up again when he heard the other man pass by. He marched into the throne-room and bowed with a flourish. They are a bad example for your other subjects and must be dealt with before they begin to plot against you and cause discontent throughout the entire kingdom. Haman bowed low and said, "My Lord, they are the Jews. Perhaps it was these Jews who had turned Terish and Bigthan against him! Haman bowed and scurried quickly out of the room. When the news reached Mordecai, he tore his clothes, put on sackcloth, and went out into the city, wailing loudly. In every place to which the decree of the King came, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping and wailing. Many lay on sackcloth and ashes. Esther soon heard the mourning and crying outside the palace and sent two servants to find out what was wrong. When the servants came back, they had a message from Mordecai. Esther put her hands on her head and began pacing back and forth. If I go to his throne room without being asked to, it will be me who is put to death. Why else had she been chosen Queen? Do not eat or drink for three days. I too will fast and when it is done, I will go before the King, even though it may mean my death. But she pushed her hair out of her face and took a deep breath. The king looked up angrily. How dare they interrupt! He could see how scared she was and she seemed quite a bit paler than usual. Esther almost fainted with relief when she saw that the King would forgive her for her interruption. Esther swallowed and said in a rush, "My lord, if it please the King, would you and Haman come to a banquet I have prepared for you both today? Why the pretty young thing missed him! The King turned to his aides and said, "Tell Haman to hurry and get ready that he may do as Esther has said. King Xerxes knew Esther wanted to ask some sort of favor of him, so he asked her again what it was. I will give it to you, even if it means HALF my kingdom. Then I will tell you what it is that I want. When Haman returned home he was absolutely fuming. He paced back and forth, complaining bitterly about the nerve of Mordecai the Jew. How dare he not show Haman more respect. That night, the King could not sleep. He called to his servants to bring him the history book telling of the most important events of his reign. As the servants read to the King, he noticed the item about how Mordecai had saved his life, for he had been the one to tell him about the plot through Esther. When the King saw Haman, he immediately asked, "Haman, what should be done to the man I want to honor? Now hurry and take these robes of mine, get my personal horse and do as you have said to Mordecai the Jew that sits at my gate. Do not fail to do ONE thing of all that you have said! His wife and his friends could do nothing to comfort him. Haman met the King at the palace, and, together, they headed for the second banquet with Esther the Queen. What is your request? Whatever it is, I will give it to you, even if you desire half my kingdom," the King repeated when everyone had settled. We face death soon. I and all my people are to be killed; every one of us must die. Now Haman turned white as a ghost with fright. The King got up from his seat and stormed out of the room into the palace garden. As soon as the King went out the door, Haman quickly left his seat and went over to Queen Esther, begging for his life desperately. He knew the King was ready to have him slain for the evil he had planned to carry out on the Jews. By the time the King returned, Haman had thrown himself upon the Queen, begging for mercy. Seeing this, the King yelled and servants came running to hold Haman back from the Queen. The King sat back at the table and nodded. He was hung on the gallows he had built for Mordecai. Peace was restored to the kingdom. Esther and her people were safe because Esther was willing to go before the King, even if it cost her her life.

Chapter 5 : Mission Bible Class – Free resources for sharing God's Word with children

Bible For Children exists to make Jesus Christ known to children by distributing illustrated Bible stories through: the Web, Cell Phone/PDAs, printed color tracts and coloring books, in many languages.

A copy of the facts below. What is the Bible? The Bible is a Light or lamp that helps us find the Way in this dark world of sin. The Word of truth brings a harvest of righteousness. It is the Sword the Spirit that can cut through all the excuses we make, and the doubts we have—the things that get wrapped around our hearts. It is the inspired, written Word that becomes the living Word as the Holy Spirit makes it come alive in our hearts. The Word brings life. Download a Books of the Bible craft. The Bible was written over a period of about years—from B. The Bible was written by over 40 different authors who were inspired by the Holy Spirit. The Bible was written in three languages: Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. It was first translated into English in A. The Bible was the first book to be printed on a printing press in A. The longest book in the Bible is Psalms. The shortest book in the Bible is 2 John. The longest chapter in the Bible is Psalm The shortest chapter in the Bible is Psalm The longest verse in the Bible is Esther 8: The shortest verse in the Bible is John The Bible remains the best-selling book in the world.

Chapter 6 : All the Stories of the Bible | calendrierdelascience.com

Adventure. Humor. Drama. Now kids can discover God's great love story in a new format! As you read, you will uncover the "big picture." You'll find out that God's story is not just a collection of random adventures—it's a complete story that tells about God's great love for his people.

Chapter 7 : All the Stories of the Bible

All the Stories of the Bible This is a five book series that presents all the stories of the Bible, written in an easy to understand conversational style. Each story is presented in its simplest form and is accurate to Scripture.

Chapter 8 : Children and the Bible - Finding the way - Truth for kids

The Story is a dynamic, powerful, and rewarding experience for churches, families, small groups, and individuals. The Story is helping people everywhere experience Scripture like never before. Carefully selected verses from the Bible are organized chronologically and written in the form of a novel from Genesis to Revelation.

Chapter 9 : The Story - One Continuing Story of God and His People

Easy to understand, chronologically accurate, an e-book for children and adults. The illustrated stories are revised from the original yellow Bible story book.