Fresh Touch of The Spirit. November 7, Speaking from Acts 2, Pastor Jamey shares on the life transforming power of the baptism of the Holy Spirit.

Wood Every believer needs a constant refreshing of the Holy Spirit. Lightstock Pentecostals are very good about asking, "Are you filled with the Spirit? I spoke in tongues 30 years ago! Why would you ask me that question? With each new challenge comes a new demand for a fresh filling of the Spirit. This must be our experience of the Spirit today. It is not simply that the Spirit came upon us when we were baptized in the Spirit with the initial physical evidence of speaking in other tongues. The Spirit, in our present challenges, is filling us to every level of capacity. May we be filled at this moment in life with all of God that we can take. May we experience to the deepest level and core of our being the fullness of God that the Spirit makes present! Get Spirit-filled content delivered right to your inbox! Click here to subscribe to our newsletter. The church cannot function without the Holy Spirit. And our personal life cannot function without the Holy Spirit. We might know a lot about theology. We might study our Bible on a regular basis. But unless we have the operating presence of the Spirit in our life, we are not doing anything that really counts in the kingdom of God. Here are four things the book of Acts notes about the Spirit—what the Spirit is doing when He comes upon us: The Holy Spirit creates unity among us without producing uniformity. When the Spirit of God enters us, we do not become clones. In fact, the Scriptures say that the Spirit places great variety in the body of Christ—varieties of ministry, personality, ministerial office, all flowing out of the one Spirit. The Spirit ministers to us the life of Jesus, which is the source of our unity, but He also brings us into conformity with Christlikeness without making us "cookies" cut from the same mold. The Spirit creates unity without uniformity. No person in the New Testament would have ever expressed the potential in his or her life unless the Holy Spirit had been upon them. No matter what our talents and personality are, no matter how much energy we bring to any particular assignment or task, only the Holy Spirit can touch the depths of potential in our life and draw them forth for the kingdom of God. Third, the Spirit is always leading us in two dimensions simultaneously. He wants to lead us deeper into God. We need to be careful how we define the deeper things of God. The deeper things of God move us to love as God loves and to experience His purity and joy. The deeper things of God are not about spooky spirituality or being smarter or holier than the next person. The deeper things of God are meant to impress our life more dramatically with the personality of God through Christ Jesus. At the same time, the Spirit leads us out into the world, because God loves the world. The Father gave His Son to save the world. He told the disciples to wait until the Spirit did that. The Spirit is always pulling us deeper into God and more thoroughly into ministry to a lost world. We see this in the Old Testament with Isaiah. And who will go for us? Fourth, the Holy Spirit is indeed a person and as such, you can resist Him, ignore Him or welcome Him. He waits to be received; He waits to be invited. Jesus said to ask the Father and He will give you the Holy Spirit. The Spirit will not storm down the door of our life. He seeks an invitation. We ask, seek and knock, and welcome the Spirit. Chapter 3 : Touch The Spirit Sheet Music By Wayne Naus - Sheet Music Plus

The Touch of Spirit 27 October October 27, October 27, October 23, God began this journey painting a picture of true love, and planting a seed of hope within my heart of finding a godly loving man to spend the rest of my life with as husband and wife.

Is a believer supposed to be able to feel the Holy Spirit? While certain ministries of the Holy Spirit may involve a feeling, such as conviction of sin, comfort, and empowerment, Scripture does not instruct us to base our relationship with the Holy Spirit on how or what we feel. Every born-again believer has the indwelling Holy Spirit. Jesus told us that when the Comforter has come He will be with us and in us. The world cannot accept him, because it neither sees him nor knows him. In other words, Jesus is sending one like Himself to be with us and in us. Every born-again believer is indwelt by the Holy Spirit, but not every believer is controlled by the Holy Spirit, and there is a distinct difference. When we step out in our flesh, we are not under the control of the Holy Spirit even though we are still indwelt by Him. The apostle Paul comments on this truth, and he uses an illustration that helps us to understand. Many people read this verse and interpret it to mean that the apostle Paul is speaking against wine. However, the context of this passage is the walk and the warfare of the Spirit-filled believer. Therefore, there is something more here than just a warning about drinking too much wine. When people are drunk with too much wine, they exhibit certain characteristics: The apostle Paul sets up a comparison here. Just as there are certain characteristics that identify someone who is controlled by too much wine, there should also be certain characteristics that identify someone who is controlled by the Holy Spirit. We read in Galatians 5: The verb tense in Ephesians 5: Since it is an exhortation, it follows that it is also possible to not be filled or controlled by the Spirit. The rest of Ephesians 5 gives us the characteristics of a Spirit-filled believer. Sing and make music in your heart to the Lord, always giving thanks to God the Father for everything, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. We are not filled with the Spirit because we feel we are, but because this is the privilege and possession of the Christian. Being filled or controlled by the Spirit is the result of walking in obedience to the Lord. This is a gift of grace and not an emotional feeling. Emotions can and will deceive us, and we can work ourselves up into an emotional frenzy that is purely from the flesh and not of the Holy Spirit. Having said that, we cannot deny that there are times when we can be overwhelmed by the presence and the power of the Spirit, and this is often an emotional experience. When that happens, it is a joy like no other. Experiencing joy by the Spirit is the understanding that as children of God we are being blessed by His grace. So, absolutely, the ministries of the Holy Spirit can involve our feelings and emotions. At the same time, we are not to base the assurance of our possession of the Holy Spirit on how we feel.

Chapter 4 : The House Â» Fresh Touch of The Spirit

1. The Holy Spirit creates unity among us without producing uniformity. When the Spirit of God enters us, we do not become clones. In fact, the Scriptures say that the Spirit places great variety.

It is just like this with everyone born converted by the Spirit. The touch like Spirit, Breath and Wind Jesus said when a person converts to Christianity, it is the Holy Spirit touching them like the wind touches a tree. On a calm, spring day you can see the leaves of a huge tree lying still and motionless. Suddenly, that all changes. You see nothing that causes it; but in an instant, every leaf on that tree is moving. It has been touched by the wind. The Hebrew and Greek words for wind, breath and spirit are identical-ruah in the Hebrew and pneuma in the Greek. The Spirit is like the breath of God that comes to us from the unknown. The Holy Spirit, like a gentle wind, or sometimes like a strong hurricane, is God touching our lives. It is the way we fallible human beings encounter and get to know God. The Father is the uncreated Creator, above and beyond any concept we have of Him; and whose nature we cannot even imagine. He told Moses no human being could see him and live. In Him we see God living with us and sacrificing His life for us. This was true when Jesus walked the earth because when Peter proclaimed Jesus as the Messiah, Jesus told him this knowledge came from the Father. And it came through the Holy Spirit. Jesus adopted this and it is now the favorite designation. But it also points to the utter separateness of the great God beyond the universe. A Personal Touch It goes without saying that the Holy Spirit is not a power or influence, like love or electricity. In Scripture He is given all the characteristics of a person. He understands the thoughts of God 1 Cor. He has a will. He knows grief when we sin Eph. He speaks to the seven churches in Revelation Rev. Jesus calls Him our Teacher Jn. The Holy Spirit can be lied to Acts 5: There is no indication that they saw or heard the Spirit or had any kind of dream or vision. But when they prayed and thought and discussed, they knew the unseen, unheard Spirit of God the Father and the Son, was right there discussing and praying and thinking and guiding in them and alongside them. Throughout Church History the Holy Spirit has been neglected and even forgotten by the people of God.

Chapter 5 : Reiki: Touch of the Spirit

The Spirit of Touch will be open until Friday December 22 and re-open on Tuesday January 16, Wishing all of you a merry Christmas and a happy new year.

This idea was central to a lecture given by Gordon R. The title of his lecture was "The Touch of Spirit. He has devoted his full time to the healing ministry of Christian Science since , and became a teacher of Christian Science in An abridged version of his lecture follows: Healing of alcoholism A longshoreman I feel privileged to call my friend had wrestled for years over a contradiction he saw in life. How could there be a good, wise, intelligent, loving God "the only Creator" and yet there be so much sickness, pain, poverty, fear in the world? The deep-down confusion this contradiction brought about first made him afraid, then made him mean and ugly, "all out of his confusion and frustration. The hell this produced in his experience finally resulted in his becoming an alcoholic, apparently incurable. But while he was in a hospital for alcoholics another patient simply mentioned he was going to try Christian Science. Shortly thereafter my friend found himself in another deep drunk. But at this point he turned to Christian Science for help, and was dramatically healed in a matter of hours. All desire to drink left him and never returned. He was completely healed. First, what was that "something" that moved in the life of my longshoreman friend? And second, how does that wonderful "something" make itself known and felt in your life and mine? First, what was that "something"? Why, what that man experienced was the very presence of God becoming real to his consciousness. He no longer felt so terribly all alone. God, Spirit, not only saved that man from believing he was an all-alone mortal; it saved him also from believing he was a bad mortal, hopelessly, helplessly caught up in a materialistic creation. For while it seems quite the opposite most of the time, the fact is, in the sight of God, you and I are not mortals. Why, you and I are the very offspring of God. We really do live, and move, and have our being in God, in Spirit. Deceptive senses Spirit, God, communicated just such ideas as these to my longshoreman friend through his spiritual sense, his spiritual intuition "not primarily through his eyes and ears. Do you realize, the only time we believed that discord "that so often seems to surround us" is when we looked with our eyes and listened with our ears? What do I mean by material life? I mean life which is based on material values only: And yet, all through human history thinking men and women have come to the conclusion that those eyes and ears are not to be trusted. That there is a source of information to go to, but it is not the eyes and ears. All through the Bible we have individuals coming to the awesome realization that they did not need to trust those eyes and ears. And when that dawning came it just absolutely revolutionized their lives. Perceptive understanding Often they were impelled to comment on what they realized. For instance, listen to what Paul has to say about the eyes and ears: But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: And another thinker who lived about a hundred years ago, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, came to the same conclusion and said substantially the same thing in her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. He needed to glimpse reality. He needed to begin to see the Creator as Spirit and creation as it really is, spiritual. He needed to begin to disbelieve what his lying eyes and ears misrepresented life to be, material. For every human problem, regardless of what fancy name is attached to it, and regardless of what fancy symptoms it comes dragging along behind it, is made up of nothing more than some "not-knowing" of God, Spirit, believing instead something those lying eyes and ears misrepresent life to be. Jesus gave the answer Yet Jesus told us the answer to every human problem. Good can be found nowhere else. And matter is the degree opposite of Spirit. Try a different definition. Think of matter as: Step-by-step process Yet James told us what brings good into our lives. He said, "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you" James 4: Now drawing nigh means coming closer. Thank goodness, none of us are asked to take any step beyond which we are next ready and able to take. But this is certain: But the second is just as important "that God, Spirit, is always present bestowing that good. Spirit is reaching into your life and my life all the time. And yet, we need to. For only as we begin to recognize and acknowledge those touches of Spirit that absolutely transform our whole lives do we also become able to recognize and dismiss those damning notions which otherwise our senses just go on dropping on us. Evidence of Principle So what was that something that moved in the life of my longshoreman friend? Why, it was Spirit, God. Yes, but has anybody ever seen Spirit? And none ever will. But you can know unmistakably that Principle exists by its manifestations in your life. How does that wonderful something, Spirit, God, make itself known and felt in your life and mine? And the answer, the wonderful answer "â€" by the grace of God. Paul had much to say about that word grace, for instance, he said, "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work" II Cor. For years I had difficulty understanding that statement. It was that word "grace. The dictionary says, "the grace of God is the kindness of God, or the mercy of God. I felt there had to be something more to that word than I had as yet seen. It reads this way: An animating grace Oh, that definition just opened up that word "grace" for me gloriously! Why the grace of God is simply and wonderfully this animating, divine influence of Spirit bringing illumination into your life and my life in just the way our lives need it. And it may come, this grace of God, in any number of ways. For instance, it might appear in your life and mine as a still, small voice directing our decisions. Isaiah, that seer of deep spiritual things said, "And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left" Isa. They must be human inventions. Why, God, Spirit, is naturally decisive, eternally knowing. And because you and I image that Spirit, that must be our natural state of consciousness as well. Decisiveness, certainty, knowing, without qualifications, without reservation. I had an experience that bore this out in my life. Instant realization I had a major decision to make. It would not only affect my life deeply. It would affect every member of my family. It just had to be right. So, to find our way, Mrs. Clarke and I began by lining up the "pros" and the "cons. We went in circles. For every "for," there was an "against. Then a friend pointed out to me what was wrong with that approach: It left God out of the decision. And then the most lovely realization dawned on me. What I really needed and really wanted was to not feel so alone. I needed to feel the presence and the operation of Spirit in my life once again. And with that realization I immediately felt at peace. Clarke and I stopped all debating with ourselves and each other on the "pros" and the "cons" and instead we each turned with all our hearts to hear individually what God, Spirit, wanted us to know, whenever and however Spirit wanted us to know it. And even though we waited for two months, we never lost our peace because we were so sure that Spirit moves with a precision that is unimprovable; never too early, never too late, never too much, never too little. Clarke and I were in a large room separated by a number of people. And all of a sudden, I knew what we were to do. I just absolutely knew it! I looked across the room at my wife and I could see that she knew it, too! And 25 minutes later when we finally could speak, that was the case. We each had been brought to the same conclusion at the same moment. Nor had anyone else said anything to prompt that particular conclusion. Nobody had done anything.

Chapter 6 : Touch of the Spirit – MFM

The Touch of Healing offers readers the means to greater health, vitality, and self-understanding through the practice of an ancient oriental healing art and practical holistic philosophy called Jin Shin Jytsu.

After all, my experience happened over twelve years ago. I have shared this experience with only a few people who have been close to me or people who I thought needed words of hope where I could not find logical advice to help them in their time of need. I was 26 years old and had been living in NYC for about a year. Having been born and raised in a small Midwest - blue-collar town, NYC was the potential opportunity to making my claim in life. On the onset, life was good! It was like a kid living in Disneyland! In such a lonely city of people who long to have friendships, I was good to go. We worked hard and played hard and took the whole city by storm. The startup business operation was slow, but that was O. Simply stated, I met a woman who I believed to be my soul mate. As all relationships begin, I believed she could be the one. After a year of living with people you work with and realizing this was unhealthy for business we were at each others throats on top of the fact that the girl I was dating moved on I was at an all time low. In my depression, I pushed everyone away and kept to myself. No one around to talk with and no where to go, I decided to go to church I was raised Catholic and although not a bible thumper, I respected its values and never found hatred or directed anger towards the church as some people recently have found. I would walk around admiring this tranquil masterpiece in the middle of New York Cities pulsating spirit. I would go to the head of the church behind the main alter where I would pray with others at the shrine of Mary. While mass was going on I knelt down and began to pray. After I finished my initial prayers, I began to talk to God. No not one of those two way conversations that some people would certify me as psychologically "nuts" just those kind of thoughts about things we need help with or hope for in order to make ourselves and the world a better place. I put my life in your hands. Upon letting go, there was a bolt of energy, which began at my toes and rifled upward throughout my body. It exploded out the top of my head like a bolt of lighting. As this "energy" traveled upward it was like every cell in my body was energized. The best I can explain it was like the pins and needles one gets, but this was far from being uncomfortable. The experience lasted probably only a second or two, but after it left my body I was left with this euphoria. Almost feeling like I was floating. Every pain, every frustration, every mental disparity I had been carrying with me, had been ripped from my being at the singular moment. As I left the church, I had a feeling of clarity, focus, and comfort. All my hate, all my anger, all my desperation was replaced with happiness, love, and sense of hope. Within two years of this moment, my life had been given the love of my wife and a year later the first of three children. As for the work, the business turned around and all those in the initial startup have done well for themselves. My prayers were answered! I wonder has anyone experienced what I felt that day? Faith and hope are wonderful virtues.

Chapter 7 : Is a believer supposed to be able to feel the Holy Spirit?

Spirit's touch causes all things to become new in our lives. This idea was central to a lecture given by Gordon R. Clarke, C.S.B., in Boston on Sunday afternoon, Dec. The title of his lecture was "The Touch of Spirit."

October 27, October 23, God began this journey painting a picture of true love, and planting a seed of hope within my heart of finding a godly loving man to spend the rest of my life with as husband and wife. I also know God often uses these ideals to lead, when His intention may only be to teach valuable lessons, and show how much He loves me. As I have found opportunities to share my story with others, I hope to bring healing, encouragement, and comfort. I know my vulnerability and optimism may be seen as naivete or wrongly encouraging idealism and fantasy, yet I am convinced God wants me to share and encourage others. At the beginning of this journey my world was small and compartmentalized. I was closed off, shut down, living as a tightly closed bud. The image of a shell tightly closed, much like an oyster where a grain of sand had gotten in and a pearl began forming. With the shell of the oyster tightly closed, no one is aware of the beautiful pearl hidden inside. The image of a poem by Rumi comes to mind, which I think describes the precipice or the crux of where I was at the beginning of this journey. There is some kiss we want with our whole lives, the touch of Spirit on the body. Seawater begs the pearl And the lily, how passionately it needs some wild Darling! I know God knows the desires of my heart better than I know the desires of my heart. I believe God provided an opportunity to have my heart opened. In opening my heart, I become vulnerable, yet the beauty inside my heart is now being shared. The love, compassion, and everything God has placed inside, I am sharing to bless his children for his Kingdom. Sharing my personal story, I hope to encourage others as God leads. I am not naive, nor am I blind to the fallen world in which we live. I struggle with sin, as I know we all do. I know as I open my heart to the possibility of love and marrying again, I will face trials and challenges. This is all part of two flawed people learning to love and relate to each other. I also believe that as we make Jesus the sovereign King over our lives, we will go through the process of sanctification and are transformed into the likeness of Christ. I trust this process knowing that as I seek His face daily, I keep my hands and my heart wide open, letting go of expectations of the outcome. This means I know there may not be a love relationship with a man for me at the end. What I do know is that I give the rest of my life, my whole life, to serving His Kingdom for the glory of His name, using my creative gifts and partnering with others for this purpose.

"The Touch of the Spirit" In today's video I share some insights from my experience of ministering by the power of the Holy Spirit. It's sad to me that many churches have strayed from allowing the Holy Spirit to do His work in "their" church.
