Vampire Doll (Japanese: ヴァンパイアドールギルトナザン, Hepburn: Vampire Doll Guilt-na-Zan) is a manga by Erika Kari which takes place in modern time but holds a medieval, Gothic theme. The story starts out with Kyoji, an exorcist who revives the spirit of Guilt-na-Zan, whom his ancestor entrapped in a cross.

Story[edit] One hundred years ago the vampire aristocrat Guilt-Na-Zan was sealed in a cross by a powerful exorcist. In modern times he is released by Kyoji, a descendant of the original exorcist, but finds himself in the body of a wax doll shaped like a cute girl. With the amount of blood he is allowed to take 1cc, a number set by Kyoji he can only turn into his true form for about 5 minutes. However, the perfume has a delayed reaction, so he can never know when the transformation will happen, or what side effects can occur. One major side effect of the perfume is that, every full moon, Guilt-na-Zan changes back to his true form for that night, until the moon sets but he will only have the same powers as he does in the form of the doll only being able to create flowers and candy.

Characters[edit] Guilt-na Zan Guilt-na Zan is a vampire aristocrat who was imprisoned within a cross by Kyoeisai, an exorcist, one hundred years before the start of the manga. Before he was imprisoned, he was seen as a lord among the vampires, with dark powers, which included the ability to control "beasts of the earth" and to call thunder from the sky. When he is resurrected by the exorcist Kyoji, a descendant of Kyoeisai, he is put into the form of a very cute female wax doll. His powers were reduced to creating sweets, which he uses in making food for Kyoji and Tonaе. He also turns into his true form on the night of the full moon. Guilt-na Zan has silver hair and pigeon blood red eyes which turn silver when he is very angry. He is quite handsome, and favors Gothic clothes. He has a strong sense of loyalty and is capable of showing kindness. He loathes his new position and tries, in vain, to regain his true form. He seems to be developing a strong relationship with Tonaе. He loathes Kyoji and has a strong sense of friendship with Vincent, though Vincent refers to him as "my lord," but Guilt-na Zan accepts that. Guilt-na is a wax doll into which Kyoji resurrected Guilt-na Zan. She has corn-flower or sapphire blue eyes and very curly honey gold hair which is set in pigtails with bat clips. The wax doll is important to Kyoji, as it was his most prized creation. Kyoji created the doll for Tonaе, who was very ill as a child. As Kyoji completed the doll, Tonaе became healthier. He has a number of hobbies, all of which he takes more seriously than his job as an exorcist. However, when he is working, he does do his job quite well but usually making others unwillingly help him or do the work for him. He has a fetish for young pretty girls, stating that he hates men and that they are dirty. He makes dresses for both Tonaе and Guilt-na. Kyoji is a comical character who seems to take few things seriously. He is quite handsome, with long black hair and silver gray eyes. He wears glasses and keeps his hair tied. He is a pervert, and seems to only show kindness to his sister. She has chocolate brown eyes and cocoa brown long hair. Tonaе is mostly quiet, and is loyal to her friends. She is pure and spacey and frequently goofs off with Vincent. She usually wears her high school uniform, but also wears frilly outfits made by her brother. After being banished, he stole a number of items all of which were cursed , which included the cross holding Vincent and the Bat Axe. He is a powerful exorcist, and is always trying to fight Kyoji to take Guilt-na-Zan so he can use him to take over the world. Kyoji is very mean to him, and calls him an idiot whenever they meet. Kyoichi likes being called "Night Veil"; his ex-servant Vincent and his crude wax dolls called him this, though others think it sounds strange. In Volume 5 he comes to his old family home with everyone else to live. Vincent A bat by nature, Vincent has the ability to transform into a man. He has short, black hair and golden eyes which are also apparently shadowed, and so he keeps sunglasses on. He says this is because his eyes are sensitive to sunlight and because Kyoichi told him to, as they made him look scary. Vincent is as spacey and sweet as Tonaе and is also shy, but very loyal to Guilt-na-Zan. He has power over bats and small animals and can use supersonic sound attacks. He is seen to have great strength as well. A pair of giant bat wings gives him the power of flight. He was named by Guilt-Na-Zan after Beyonce, a girl who appears in volumes 3 and 4 whose real name was Vincent. It is later revealed that Vincent is the reincarnation of Beyonce. He absorbs negative energy from people leaving them with only good feelings, shown by two male rivals who get very intimate when he absorbs their negative energy and uses the energy to become more powerful. This increases his height and apparent age. Fully charged, he takes the appearance of a tall, muscular young man. If he has little energy, he takes the appearance of a somewhat scrawny teenage boy. He came into the story by taking negative energy from Mitsuhachi Academy. He accepted this offer and is currently working at the school. She appears in volumes 3 and 4, when Guilt-Na explains how he came to be so sensitive he was taught kindness by Beyonce. She had a blood disease which ultimately killed her, and though many people call her Beyonce, as she prefers, her real name is Vincent. Guilt-Na-Zan gave this name to Vincent the bat when they first met, realising that he was her reincarnation. Shizuka Her eyes are ivory and her hair is pale sepia. She is a very serious school president, friend and classmate of Tonaе, and a serious student. Her father is the principal of the school, and she allowed Dune to stay as a student, to calm down the raucous fights by sucking negative vibes. She seems to care about Dune quite a lot, although she does make him work as a security guard for the school at night See vol. Tamaki, works as a teacher at Mitsuhachi Academy, and is infamous for his inordinate love of food; Mr. Lawrence, the popular English teacher, often reprimands him for this, although to no avail. He is apparently immortal, the reason being that the blood of a demon unnamed when they meet, but the demon was given the name "Dante" by Hugo was given to him in order to save his life. He has wheat gold hair and forest green eyes. He has a very cute disposition and is world-famous. He goofs off from his work, and apparently has a very close relationship with Dante. Dante Dante is a Stabber type demon who has the appearance of a child with ice blue eyes and black hair. His hands can produce long swords because of his demonic powers. A doll created by Hugo, he was the demon that gave his life so that Hugo could live. He is very open of his love with Hugo, which embarrasses his creator. Dante is also very overprotective of him. He wishes he were taller like he was in the past. He longs for Hugo to acknowledge that he has the soul of the demon from so long ago. Moegi She has spectrum green hair with emerald green eyes. When she was a small child she had died due to a sickness. She met a Shinigami in the afterworld named Fahrenheit, who had come to take her soul. With great will to live, she made a deal with the Shinigami and agreed to come back to the human world with Fahrenheit controlling her body with her soul inside yet and the appearance of her. She is a friend of Tonaе and Shizuka. She is also quite fragile and frail but is a kind girl who seems to enjoy helping out friends. Fahrenheit Fahrenheit is a Shinigami who has come to the human world in search of Dune, who is an old friend of his past. He has long, jet black hair and ochre eyes. He has large horns and a fair sized sickle which later on in the manga is discovered to be the thing that is holding back Fahrenheit. It seems that before he left for his job to be a shinigami, he ran away from Dune without saying "Good-bye". With great regret, he becomes a student at Mitsuhachi Academy to try and tell Dune what he never got to say but due to leaving the afterworld and abandoning his position which is a sin to the Shinigami ways, he cannot speak when around Dune. He is promised by the sickle that if he is to take the soul of Guilt-na-zan whom it refers to as a red-eyed, silver-haired vampire, he can be free. Although he is a devil, he has to act like a normal high school girl, which is rather comical when he is doing things like knitting or acting rather feminine.

Chapter 3 : Vampire Doll: Guilt-na-Zan, Vol. 1 by Erika Kari

The concept of "Vampire Doll: Guilt-Na-Zan" is a pretty wild one, and Erika Kari seems determined to milk this delightfully weird vampire tale for all the gender-bending, gothy-clad humor she can wring from it.

Amongst his dark powers were the abilities to control the beasts of the earth and call thunder from the sky. At last, we were able to seal his soul in a cross. Written and drawn by Erika Kari who happens to like pretty boys in frilly clothes , this manga is a hell of a lot more light-hearted than it seems from the opening quote. The manga revolves around Guilt-na-Zan, a vampire whose soul was sealed into a female wax doll and forced to become a servant to the descendant of the man who sealed him in the cross in the first place. Throw in a Death God , evil spirits, and a bat-man, and watch the hijinks ensue. This manga presents examples of: Most of the main male cast. Kyoichi gets these all the time, thanks to being featured as the resident Butt Monkey. Guilt-na-Zan when he fights giant creatures. Dune, at least when he was introduced. Kyoji and Kyoichi have their rare moments as well. Dante is this as well when he tries to protect Hugo. Pretty much all the male characters in the series Bob Haircut: Shizuka Breaking the Fourth Wall: Come to think of it Kyoji, who often lounges around the house doing nothing, even though he has a HELL of a lot of talents. Kyoichi tends to become this thanks to Kyoji. Vincent, on a smaller scale. Also, any and all "villains" will fill this role at one point or another. Cast Full of Pretty Boys: Did you read the Bishonen entry?
