The hymen is a thin mucous membrane of skin that surrounds or partially covers the opening to the vagina. The hymen can also break through a lot of other means, such as vigorous sports like bike riding or gymnastics, using tampons, or through growth and development of her body. Some girls never have their hymen break at all. Bleeding After First Time Myth Some people believe that all girls will bleed the first time they have sex. Each girl is also born with a unique hymen and vagina as each boy has a unique penis. This is especially true after the first time as there are so many unknowns about sex until you have been having sex for a long time. Tips for Approaching a Girl About Her Virginity Sexual experiences are deeply personal for girls, so be respectful and patient in approaching the subject of virginity. Keep in mind there is nothing wrong with remaining a virgin. Sex for the first time can be wonderful as long as you are ready, both physically and emotionally. This might mean waiting until after marriage or until you are in a trusting, stable, and loving relationship. This is not a time to rush into sex or force penetration. Be patient and make sure you are totally comfortable and ready. If you suspect a girl is a virgin, using a personal lubricant can also help make sex more pleasant. If you are going to be sexually active, make sure you have condoms or another form of birth control ready. Also, be ready to put on a condom early. Sex can be messy, but you will enjoy it more if you are prepared. Dealing With First Time Sex As you can see, answering the question about how can you tell if a girl is still a virgin, is a very personal one. The answer may be just as private as what goes on during sex. Losing your virginity may be slightly uncomfortable or painful, or there may be no discomfort at all. What does it mean to be still and know that I am God? This popular saying comes from Psalm While the threat the psalmist faced is not mentioned specifically, it seems to relate to the pagan nations and a call for God to end the raging war. Here is the whole psalm: Therefore we will not fear, though the earth give way and the mountains fall into the heart of the sea, though its waters roar and foam and the mountains quake with their surging. There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place where the Most High dwells. God is within her, she will not fall; God will help her at break of day. Nations are in uproar, kingdoms fall; he lifts his voice, the earth melts. Come and see what the LORD has done, the desolations he has brought on the earth. He makes wars cease to the ends of the earth. He breaks the bow and shatters the spear; he burns the shields with fire. This is a call for those involved in the war to stop fighting, to be still. It is only after the fighting has stopped that the warriors can acknowledge their trust in God. Know that I am God. We know that He is omniscient all-knowing , omnipresent present everywhere , omnipotent all-powerful , holy, sovereign, faithful, infinite, and good. Acknowledging God implies that we can trust Him and surrender to His plan because we understand who He is. I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth. It was tempting for the nation of Israel to align with foreign powers, and God reminds them that ultimately He is exalted! God wins, and He will bring peace. Judah did not need Egyptian might; they needed reliance on the Lord: When we are still and surrendered to God, we find peace even when the earth gives way, the mountains fall verse 2 , or the nations go into an uproar and kingdoms fall verse 6. When life gets overwhelming and busyness takes precedence, remember Psalm Acknowledge that He is God and that He is exalted in the earth. Be still and know that He is God.
