Million-dollar question: Who gets to marry Max? Enigmatic toy tycoon Max Loden had built a financial empire on that catch phrase. But the world's hottest catch had never been tempted to satisfy anyone's curiosity - until now.

Plot[ edit ] Widower retirees John Gustafson Lemmon , a former high school history teacher, and Max Goldman Matthau , who was a television repairman, are childhood friends, longtime rivals and next-door neighbors in Wabasha, Minnesota. John and May eventually divorced after twenty years. John has a daughter, Melanie Daryl Hannah , who is having marital problems, and had a son, Brian, who died in Vietnam. Max went on to marry Amy and had a son, Jacob Kevin Pollak. Max never regretted marrying Amy, and thought their marriage was the best thing that ever happened to him. Despite their differences, both men lead boring and lonely single lives, and share a love for ice fishing , as well as competing, arguing, insulting, and pulling cruel practical jokes on each other. Early on, Ariel spends time with Max, which secretly upsets John. Things do not end all badly for John, however: Ariel decides to cook him dinner and they spend the evening together. Ariel is offended and soon takes up with Max, while John sinks into a deep depression. On Christmas Eve, the depressed John becomes even more upset when he learns that his daughter Melanie has forgiven her husband Michael, whom John dislikes. After trying to convince Melanie to go through with her divorce, he fights with Michael over his mistreatment of Melanie. John then storms out of the house and heads to the local bar. He tells Max that none of it matters anymore because he got what he wanted in the end. When John decides to go home, Max follows John into the snow, wanting to make things right. By the time Max catches up to John, he finds him in a snow drift, experiencing a massive heart attack. After seeing John in the hospital, Max tells Ariel what happened. Max decides to step aside and let Ariel be with John. Winter turns to spring, and John and Ariel get married. Max then goes off to a local dance sponsored by the VFW , while a newly single Melanie who is officially divorced and Jacob, left home alone, begin a new romance with each other.

Storylines[ edit ] Max arrives in Walford in June to confront his father, Jim Branning John Bardon , after being estranged for 17 years, but Jim throws him out and Max meets his son Bradley Branning Charlie Clements , and decides to stay to rebuild their relationship. Robb , but she gives their marriage one last try. As an apology, Max buys 10 Turpin Road for Tanya to open as a beauty parlour and begins spending time with Bradley. Max thinks Bradley is too good for his girlfriend, Stacey Slater Lacey Turner , and when she gets pregnant, he gives Bradley money for an abortion, telling him a baby will ruin his life. However, the abortion ends the relationship. To hurt Bradley, Stacey makes a move on Max and they have an affair, but Tanya tells Max she is pregnant. Max returns with his family to find that Stacey and Bradley have reconciled and are now engaged. An attack of conscience prompts Tanya to dig Max up and he decides to leave Walford as he can see how much devastation he had caused. Jack abducts Max and forces him to stay away, after which Max and Tanya kiss. Later that evening, he is the victim of a hit-and-run which Tanya confesses to and is arrested. However, Lauren admits that she was driving the car and turns herself in to the police. Tanya is released and Lauren goes into care. She is found not guilty of attempted murder but guilty of grievous bodily harm and decides to go home. Max and Tanya start a secret relationship and Tanya later allows Max to move back in. However, he is found out and debt collectors arrive and take his assets. Max sinks into depression and sends Abi to live with her mother. Max and Bradley decide to go into business together and Roxy Mitchell Rita Simons rents the car lot to them. When the police come for Bradley two months later, Max helps him and Stacey flee but the police chase him to a rooftop where he stumbles and falls to his death. As Max and Stacey cry, she admits that she killed Archie. They start a casual relationship but she realises Max still loves Tanya and ends the affair. When Tanya sends Max their finalised divorced papers, he storms in to her house and tells her he still loves her. However, Tanya says she has moved on and reveals she and her new boyfriend Greg Jessop Stefan Booth are engaged, and will be married in a few months. Max attempts to reconcile with Vanessa, but she informs him that their relationship will never be serious. Max and Jack threaten Harry, thinking it is over but Jack is kidnapped by orders from Harry, and Max finds him the next day in the boot of his car. Lauren concludes that Max killed Archie, because he has been displaying violent behaviour, but Max tells her that he made a promise to the killer to protect them. After Stacey tells Lauren that Max is looking after her, Lauren tells Max that she has worked out that Stacey is the killer. He drives her to the airport and says he does still love her but she says she only loves Bradley and then leaves the country. Max proposes to Vanessa, and she accepts. They announce their engagement to everyone, but Tanya confronts Max and tells him that she knows that he only proposed to Vanessa to make her jealous. Max and Tanya argue before sleeping together, and they begin an affair, but Lauren discovers this so Tanya decides to end it. However, it continues, despite Tanya marrying Greg. When the affair is revealed after he leaves Vanessa, Max goes to Tanya in hope he will be with her. Unknown to him, she has found out she may have cancer and tells him she does not love him. Kicked out by his children, Max decides to leave. Meanwhile, Tanya chases after Max but is too late, and watches as a tearful Max leaves Walford in his car. Max visits Tanya but ends up insulting her and she throws him out. As Max is about to leave, Lauren stops him, telling him that Tanya has cervical cancer and they need his help. Max talks to Tanya, and she explains her fears about her condition and reveals that she helped her sick father to die. Max then vows to support Tanya and stays with her along with Derek, although Tanya later throws Derek out. Clement , she furiously brands him a "freak" and Derek is livid when Max sides with her. Max is unnerved, however, when Derek hints that he knows things about Max that he does not want Tanya to know. Max becomes sexually frustrated as Tanya is never in the mood for sex, and almost starts an affair with Roxy Mitchell Rita Simons after she reveals her breasts to him. They almost kiss in an alleyway but are interrupted when a shout comes for Roxy. The next day, they text and call each other. Tanya then lies to Max that her nurse has recommended she does not have any sex. They are later shocked to discover Lauren has drunk so much she was passed out in the street. Lauren claims her drink was spiked, then says she is old enough to do what she likes after she is grounded. She then decides to move out. Max later has a change of heart and texts Roxy, telling her that nothing will ever happen between them. Max is relieved when Tanya is given the all-clear from cancer. Tanya is unconvinced however, and remains distant. Max gets Roxy to admit to Cora that she attempted to seduce him, but that he refused her. However, after a frank discussion with Tanya over their marriage and above all sex life Max reassures Tanya that she is all that matters to him and that he will not be straying again. Derek continues to allude to something Max did when he was staying with him. Max and Tanya plan to remarry, and Derek continues to remind Max that "they" want more money. Max gives Derek cash, but does not know that Derek does not pass it on. She also reveals that she has been having a relationship with Joey. Max and Tanya cancel the wedding, and Max tells Derek that he wants nothing more to do with him after Christmas. Max confirms to an angry Tanya that he did marry Kirsty but Derek had told him they were divorced. Kirsty reveals that she was pregnant by Max, but after Max left her to reunite with Tanya, Derek said that Max did not want the child, so she had an abortion. Max did not know about the pregnancy. Max confronts Derek and threatens to kill him for his lies and manipulation and Derek reveals that he always hated Max. Derek is forced out by Max, Jack and Joey and outside, he suffers a heart attack and dies. On their return, things are relatively healed between them. However, Max passionately embraces Kirsty after a heated argument. Tanya later discovers them and assumes that Max and Kirsty are still involved. However, Kirsty eventually agrees to sign the divorce papers and gives them to Max. Max shows Tanya and says Kirsty is leaving, but she realises Max still loves Kirsty because he refuses to have sex with her and is sad about Kirsty leaving. Max confirms this, so Tanya ejects Max from the house saying their relationship is over for good, as Kirsty leaves Walford. Kirsty lies to Max that she is pregnant in an attempt to stop him returning to Tanya. Max encourages Kirsty to abort the pregnancy, but following another refusal by Tanya to rekindle their relationship, he changes his mind and moves into a new flat with Kirsty. When Lauren tells Max and Tanya she cannot stand their constant arguing, Tanya agrees and decides to take Lauren out of Walford for treatment. Lauren returns, having left her rehabilitation clinic early, worrying Max. He frames Max for cutting the brakes, and forces Ian to become a false witness. Max is arrested and released on bail, until Carl goads him into attacking him, and he is remanded in custody. Carl also forces Max to tell his family he is guilty, and Lauren is the only person who believes he is innocent. Max then heads to a wasteland with Phil, and it is revealed they have kidnapped Ian. Max declines and returns to his family instead, resuming his relationship with Kirsty. Several months later, Kirsty leaves Walford for good. He helps track Stacey down, but decides he cannot be involved when he realises he may still have feelings for Stacey. Stacey later turns to Max for help, but they end up in a passionate kiss, and Stacey later leaves Walford with Lily to stay with her mother Jean. Max confronts Lucy, believing it is her trying to blackmail him, but it is revealed it is not. A physical struggle ensues, which ends when Lucy falls over and hits her head on a chair. Max and Lucy have an explosive argument outside of the car lot, which sees Max grab Lucy violently by her arm. Max becomes prime suspect after the police discover that Lucy was having an affair, and Max reveals all to David Wicks Michael French. David initially tries to encourage Max to confess to the Beales and the police, but he refuses, and David threatens to tell the police everything. Abi becomes irate when she sees Max supporting Ian and reveals that she knows that he was sleeping with Lucy and was the person that sent him the email of him and Lucy together. When Stacey is released after an appeal, Max employs her at the car lot, but she decides to leave when he admits he still has feelings for her and it was those feelings that drove him to have the affair with Lucy. Stacey then encourages him to get back in touch with Emma, and she and Max resume their relationship. After Emma is hit by a car in the Square, Max takes her to hospital where she dies from a bleed to the brain. Thinking Phil was responsible for the crash, he takes revenge by tricking his son Ben Harry Reid into signing over The Arches to him. When Max discovers Phil has been framed, he refuses to sign the business back to Phil despite Ben later telling him that Nick Cotton John Altman was responsible for the crash. Phil swears revenge on Max, and after being released, Phil regains the garage and also takes the car lot from Max. Max struggles with the loss of his business, and stops taking care of himself or paying his bills. Carol discovers this and invites Max to move in with her and rent out his house to pay the mortgage.

Before you book the caterer and the band, best have some straightforward talks about your future married life. One man I know is ready to take the plunge. Two problems loom large however. But her nonchalant attitude over putting things away is going to be a stumbling block to closeness. He has a thriving business and is well off financially. She has little financial worth. Should he have his business evaluated and work out a prenuptial agreement? Or should he just tie the knot and hope they live happily ever after? Another couple face a different dilemma. She has a teenage daughter. When her boyfriend tries to tell this girl what to do, the mother finds herself feeling resentful. What will this man do when this child gives him trouble, leaves her messes around, demands to be driven somewhere? Couple number three are trying to work out a different sort of problem. He has two children and a nice home that is almost paid for. She has two children and rents her home. When they marry and move into his home, she wants her name on the house title. Because he has an ongoing medical problem, life insurance is out of the question. When planning to remarry "if you really want the marriage to work" write down all concerns. Where will you live? Is the type of house important? What about the school district? Who will do the cooking, grocery shopping, repairs? How will you budget your money? Will everything go into one account? How will you decide who gets to spend what? Even when couples decide to split expenses, resentments arise because one mate frequently has more spendable income. If someone is coming into the marriage with a home and a savings account, are things to be shared from the get-go? Older men frequently marry younger women. The man has the money, the woman has the looks. The man wants her to sign off on his money, but he gets to enjoy a young wife. If one of you is laid-back and the other somewhat demanding, problems will occur. Maybe his plan is to use his savings to retire early. Other considerations before tying the knot a second or third time: If one of you likes to stay home and the other likes to be out and about, there will be conflicts. If one of you is expanding your career and the other is slowing down, how do you intend to handle differences in play time? If you can take the issues above, thoroughly talk them through, and come up with specific agreements, you will have lessened or eliminated future marital problems. Posts by Doris Helmering.
