

Chapter 1 : Post-War Promises | Envisioning The American Dream

A Boomers Dream kf8 download download World Fraternity? A Boomers Dream kindle buy World Fraternity? A Boomers Dream android A Report into Recent Events in Russia - A Report into Recent Events in Russia I herein submit my report of the events leading up to the seizure of the city by the Bolshevik Lenin and his followers.

Every Sigma Chi knows the words and melody. It was first sung by the delegates to the Grand Chapter. A Sig by day, a Sig by night; to be a Sig is my delight. Come, take a cup and raise it high! Vive la Sigma Chi! The night for some rollicking, rousing good cheer. Away with the man that says aught of a book. No learning is precious but that of a cook. Our strength is in unity, loyal and warm. Chorus the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi Lyrics currently unavailable. On the back of the sheet music is this short note: Miss Eldred, whose picture is on the cover, is one of the six finalists for the National Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. You have charm and fascination, lovely to see. Dream girl of my fraternity, on angel divine, Dream girl thru all eternity, your heart is my shrine. Oh, Dream girl of my fraternity, this Cross is my heart. Your motto ever far reaching. And this is my thought as I journey along, To love little things, yes, a girl or a song; So much that is worthwhile is not big at all, The White Cross is wondrous and yet it is small. March of Constantine Marching along, singing a song, sunset gleam shines on, The sons of Constantine. The sky of deepened blue, brings doubt to them anew. Yet the White Cross vision strong, fills their soul with song. Hi, sing, voices ring, Sigma Chi will lead us high! Hi Constantine, lead us on, Constantine, on! March of the Sigs Our brothers true in days gone by, your spirit shall not die; May the song we sing through ages ring in praise of Sigma Chi. The White Cross before, So hail to our comrades in fraternity. Most any man makes an S. Her deep faith in each lad is a lasting thing, Like her love that will never die; So here is a toast to the best pal we boast, The mother of Sigma Chi, dear mother of Sigma Chi. Very often have I wondered how to pass the day, When I did not have a sweetheart speeding time away; Now, when study hours are over I delight to woo, And can read in eyes most tender, how she loves me true. But why do Sigs who come to Carolina Acclaim a certain girl with their applause? The stars would shine to be her shrine, this girl of Sigma Chi; Her beauty lifts you higher than an anthem in the sky. For our song of wondrous love will never die Hi! Emblem of love so true, Raise a song forever to our glorious Sigma Chi. Serenade Memories linger when college is past, Girls that we dreamed of are Sig girls at last; Visions come back when the world goes wrong, We pledge our devotion on wings of a song. Your heart beats true for the gold and the blue, Out Cross is our pledge of devotion to you, dear, Voices are lifted to praise you tonight, Girl of our serenade. For "Sigma Chi was my first love, and it shall be my last. We life our voices. Sweet May Thy Slumbers Be Fairest maid, sweet may thy slumbers be, May this, our serenade, bring sweet dreams to thee; Before thee, may visions bright be outspread, While angels stand their guard around your bed. May their wings furnish thy lullaby, Soothing thy senses with music from on high; May our Cross, shedding its soft golden light, From round thy head so fair halos so bright. So hold it fast while love doth last, and with it hold me too; My Zeta, Zeta sweetheart, I love you.

Chapter 2 : 10 Classic Movies About Boomers | HuffPost

Many people dream of retiring to warm weather states like Florida or Arizona and spending leisurely days golfing, fishing or walking along the beach. But those dreams can easily turn into a big.

This vintage security poster from Syracuse University in L was ironically directed at protecting your valuables like your stereo more than female student safety. Vintage Syracuse University Student Catalogue Even decades later, college memories remain etched deeply in my psyche. Especially, if like me, you were sexually assaulted. My freshman year at the university indeed provided remembrances that still linger- the chimes from Crouse college, the freaks playing Frisbees on the quad, making a late night dinglerun, hanging out on M street. These gracious stately mansions on Walnut Ave, were the breeding ground for male entitlement. Raucous, boozy, keg parties were the norm. So were sexual assault and harassment. But it also stayed in my mind. More than once, I was sexually assaulted. More than once, I would stumble back to my dorm up on the Mount shaken, upset, ashamed. Because boys will be boys it was so easy to brush aside bad behavior. Because we convinced ourselves it was our fault. Because no one would believe us. Because we want to forget it happened. It is still a get out of jail free card, a free pass meant to trivialize male behavior their entire life. We are reminded rape culture still exerts its influence on college campuses and in courts of law. Countless women have similar stories. Often, like me, more than one. From unwanted advances, to forced sex acts, women are questioned, vilified, doubted, and keep their voices silent. But make no doubt about it, we still live in a culture where much of this behavior is laughed at or excused away. In an era of student power, women were still pretty powerless when it came to their bodies. How much has changed? Playboy Magazine September Sex on Campus Issue. Stanford makes the top Not all students were out protesting the war, anti establishment. The survey imaginatively illustrated by Bob Post, Playboys assistant art director, proves that far friendlier extracurricular activities are also on the rise. Many male students, we found, prefer to occupy coed beds rather than administrative buildings but each school imposes its own restrictions on undergraduate freedoms. Depending on your personal proclivities and your academic status at the moment, a perusal of the chart will tell you where to go to college or where you should have gone if you had known. Interspersed with the articles are some good hearty college laffs: Hungover from a boozy party they blame only themselves and the alcohol for the assault that was perpetrated on them. In an era filled with protesting, their voices of protest were ignored. In an era of student power, women were still pretty powerless. The hallmark of a rape victim.

Chapter 3 : The World from Berlin: 'Germany's Baby-Boom Dream Has Been Shattered' - SPIEGEL ONLINE

There are over 100,000 registered basketball players in Australia, with many hundreds of thousands more who play socially. It is a game that can be played by anybody, men, women, adults, children, old, young, the able-bodied and the disabled.

He was 7 when he shot the film and 8 when he was nominated for best supporting actor. The very best films ever made about Boomers, by Boomers, for Boomers. Old college buddies, now parents and professionals, come together for a weekend after a friend commits suicide. Why, yes, you DO recognize that corpse. His face is never shown. Working Girl AP Starring: Finally given access to places of power, Tess scores a promising corporate gig and a sexy new lover Ford, at his most charming â€”but not without some problems, of course. Funny, smart, cynical, and ultimately optimistic, "Working Girl" gets everything right about the hierarchy of corporate life. Platoon AP Starring: Barnes Berenger and peace-loving father figure Sgt. Beyond its representative cast black, white, draftee, volunteer, etc. How hard must we become to survive? Look for Johnny Depp in one of his first screen roles, as incredibly good-looking interpreter Lerner. The Graduate AP Starring: Robinson Bancroft , a married friend of his parents. Alas, he falls in love with her daughter, Elaine, causing heartbreak and utter chaos among both families. Boy and Girl fall in love. Boy marries Girl, is cut off financially by angry dad. Boy and Girl try to have kids, find out Girl has terminal leukemia. Forty-four years later, have you stopped crying yet? Aided by new pledges Pinto Hulce and Flounder Furst , the brothers rebel â€” um, somewhat unsuccessfullyâ€” but there are food fights, toga parties, and a positively anarchic parade along the way. Though set in , it abounds with Boomer sensibilities, like: Was it over when the Germans bombed Pearl Harbor? The baby-faced Footloose star made his film debut playing jerky Omega pledge Chip Diller. Every weekend, Tony Manero Travolta breaks out of his hardscrabble neighborhood and go-nowhere existence to become lord of the dance. But can he ever truly escape? But back then, "Saturday Night Fever" was a surprisingly dark look at everything from race to rape, suicide to generational conflicts between early- and late-era Boomers. Kramer AP Starring: When Joanna Kramer Streep leaves her workaholic husband Ted Hoffman , he must care for their young son, Billy Henry , for the first time. He finally gets pretty good at it, when she initiates a custody battle. The Oscar winner for Best Picture, "Kramer vs. Kramer" is one of the first films to really take divorce by the horns. American Graffiti AP Starring: One night in the life of Boomer teenagers cruising around Modesto, California, in Directed by George Lucas whose next movie would be Star Wars , this sweet and funny picture harkens to a more innocent America â€” a time when kids could be preoccupied by cars, dating, and little else. Still, it captures the angsty decisions universal to all teens, across the generations: What am I going to do with my life? The blonde in the T-Bird is none other than Suzanne Somers, in her first credited role. We think this guy might be going places. Read more from Grandparents.

Chapter 4 : Boomers - Basketball Australia

The American Dream at its core is the belief that every generation should enjoy greater prosperity than the generation before it. The American Dream is often portrayed as reaching certain.

Oscar Williams Oscar Williams Jr. He is inspired by a variety of sources, ranging from renowned musicians such as Wynton Marsalis, Joseph Joubert, Richard Smallwood and John Williams to the enthusiasm of spectators tapping their feet and humming. Oscar currently holds several positions both in the education world and in the entertainment world. He is currently working on a Doctorate in Educational Leadership and Management from Dallas Baptist University as well as finishing his sophomore gospel project entitled, "Speak Life". His influence upon the way dentistry is practiced today is undeniable. Under his leadership, MINT has grown to over 35 offices employing some people and has impacted the lives of over , patients. Field is a sought-after speaker on leadership and entrepreneurship and unfailingly points to God as the source for his extraordinary success. Jill Waggoner Jones Dr. Jill Waggoner a much sought after medical speaker, she is well known for her unique presentation style which is both educational and entertaining. She is a residency trained, board certified Family Practice Physician, with more than 20 years experience in the medical field. She has a special interest in an integrative approach to medicine; an approach that uses multiple healing modalities to help her patients obtain optimal health. She has dedicated her life to teaching her patients how to flourish and embrace better living through better health. She is a television personality and discusses relevant medical topics on radio and television. She is the author of five books. Jill is the mother of two beautiful girls Jillian and Uriah, and is married to Dallas businessman Mark Jones. With over 10 years of experience in developing ministry engagement strategies through social media and digital technologies, Marc has worked alongside of some of the largest ministries and gospel artists in the world. Known for his ability to communicate effectively with humor and practical applications to ministry he is a frequent speaker at conferences such as Bishop T. Natasha has also appeared as a guest contributor on numerous television, radio and social media platforms. Natasha considers herself a lifelong learner and is inspired to share what life has taught her about the power of inner healing, hope and new beginnings Ronnie Guynes Ronnie Guynes has more than 35 years of experience in managing philanthropic works worldwide. In his travels to over 50 countries, he has managed food distributions, medical camps and training for thousands. Pastor Guynes has served in this capacity since in which he has effectively and passionately trained leaders to impact the world. Through the implementation of numerous projects, Mr. Additionally, his work in sub-Saharan Africa has served as a catalyst for saving lives through the construction of clean water projects. Guynes has always been very active in making a difference in the communities he has lived in through his societal service. He and his wife Linda live in Irving, Texas. They have two adult children and five grandchildren. His wheelhouse in technology was cultivated early in his career, when he was recruited by Airfone. Such innovations paved the way for inflight communications and entertainment today. Life after Airfone and a brief post teaching semiconductors, digital technologies, and robotics at his alma mater, Lance relocated to Virginia Beach to head the computer and network engineering programs for Computer Dynamics Institute. Lance is an authoritative innovator whose ambition rests on exploring solutions to solve complex challenges. His tenure includes serving as advisor to Fortune companies , from large law firms, to broadcasting, medical, aviation, financial, and nonprofit spaces. Marcus Coleman Marcus Coleman is a skilled coalition builder and strategic engagement professional with more than seven years of experience leading change in order to create more resilient communities. This includes expertise in cultivating, sustaining, and leveraging results-driven partnerships at the national and local level between government and non-governmental groups, including the private sector; and non-profit, philanthropic, faith-based, and civic society organizations. With more than fifteen years of strategic planning, business development and global sales experience in both emerging and Fortune companies, he comes to this role after spending seven years at TDJ Enterprises with three as the Executive Vice President of Business Operations. Holton Buggs Holton Buggs, a Serial Entrepreneur took a common habit and turned it into over 1 Billion Dollars in sales in less than 6 years working from home. As a college drop out, Holton relied on the experience he gained from his teenage entrepreneurial successes. He purchased his first car at 14 years of age by selling candy at school and providing hair cuts to the neighborhood kids as a self-taught barber. Infected with the capitalistic bug, Holton has mastered the art of creating multiple income streams. From through , Edmond was chief editor of black enterprise magazine. A nationally recognized expert on business and economic trends, personal finance, leadership development and mentorship, Edmond is a sought-after public speaker and moderator. Since , he has served as the host of Money Matters, a nationally syndicated radio feature of American Urban Radio Networks. Sell Love, Get Screwed: Beverly Robinson Beverly is no novice to ministry and comes with well over 35 years in Office and Administrative support experience. She initially began working in ministry, serving in the Music Department as a singer, musician and choir director. She remained active in the music ministry throughout her life up until During her tenure at FMRS, she worked in various capacities, including the medical records department and later the billing department as a billing clerk. She was employed there for six years. While at Shawnee Hills, Beverly worked as an Assistant to a team of counselors, clinicians and psychologists. She also worked as an Intake Clerk to process new patients. She remained in that role for eight years, resigned in good standing and began her current full time ministry assignment and employment as Executive Assistant to Bishop T. Jakes; his first hired employee. Winfield II Patrick E. As an educator, leader, and pastor his mission has been to transform lives, build leaders, and strengthen families by helping people discover and live in the grace of God found in Jesus Christ. As a leader, Patrick believes in service leadership that is exercised through modeling, mentoring, instructing and life coaching. Among his accomplishments, he helped establish a college Bible study that still ministers to college students at UIUC to keep them grounded in God. His passion in service and leadership led to a vibrant youth ministry in Chicago. He has also been blessed to minister in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. His new book, Unleashing Greatness: Learning to Walk in Your Potential, is now available for purchase. Christiaan, Joshua, and Caleb. Phil Thornton Because he wears so many hats, there are plenty of words that can be used to describe music industry executive and television producer, Phil Thornton. But there is one word in particular that also comes to mind: Born and raised in the Norfolk, Virginia, Thornton knew that he wanted to be part of the entertainment business at age 10, and by the time he was 12, his fascination with radio landed him an internship at WOWI-FM, a local radio station. The president loved the idea and Thornton went on to become In , Phil settled in Los Angeles and partnered with Marcus Spence and Paul Coy Allen to form the successful Ten2One Entertainment, a multimedia, television production, and artist management conglomerate. Thornton credits other hardworking visionaries as his inspiration growing up. I definitely see myself in them. He first ventured into film in as associate producer of the movie Lap Dance, starring Omari Hardwick and Stacey Dash, and is now working on a scripted series and made-for-TV film project with Kelly Rowland. Film is really my heart. It allows you to tell the story and I love great stories. He also sits on several boards including the National Grammy Board and the board for the new National Museum of African American Music, which is currently being built in Nashville and slated to open in In addition to all of that, Thornton, a member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, is also a philanthropist and makes sure to give back to the community as much as possible. He is heavily involved with St. So how does Thornton find time to give back, balance his amazing, yet extremely busy career, and manage to effectively run three successful entities? Married to Charles Crumpton, Pastor Crumpton inspirationally motivates and charismatically uplifts all those she touches, whether she is operating in her gifts as a wife, mother, grandmother, preacher, psalmist, mentor, motivator, lecturer, educator, entrepreneur or consultant. The anointing on her life has created unique opportunities to collaborate her ministerial and professional experience in both the religious and professional sectors for over 30 years. Pastor Crumpton believes that the church has left the building and must be engaged in a Mark Keion Henderson Pastor Keion Henderson is highly regarded as an effective leader among leaders, having spent more than 20 years in active ministry and preaching before thousands in countries around the globe. As a forerunner and catalyst for growth, he balances the confluence of ministry and marketplace as CEO of a global business enterprise, managing an extensive portfolio and franchise under his company, The Henderson Management Group. Pastor Keion Henderson is the Senior Pastor of one of the fastest growing churches in America, The Lighthouse Church of Houston where he gives leadership to more than 7, members and 50 staff members each week. His church embodies five generations of members, representing multiple countries from around the world. He has received numerous accolades from state, government and local officials for his work as a global humanitarian in providing relief and empowerment to those in need. Through his outreach efforts, Pastor Keion has served more than , meals in his local community and led disaster aid initiatives in Haiti, Florida and Southeast Texas. Pastor Keion Henderson has devoted his life to empowering others to achieving greatness. Forrest Smith A Texas legal legend known as a great unifier, Forrest Smith has brought together adversaries in the courtroom, the boardroom, and the community to effect profound change. Smith served as corporate counsel for Mobil Oil for over thirty years and then became President of the Greater Dallas Chamber of Commerce. Rodriguez has been among many lists of influencers in America, which have recognized his impact across the religious and Latino communities, including: Rodriguez worked with and advised President George W. Bush, President Obama and President Trump. Rodriguez is the recipient of the Martin Luther King Jr. He is also the author of Be Light: His most recent book is When Faith Catches Fire: Rodriguez is a movie producer serving as executive producer of two films in partnership with Franklin Entertainment and 20th Century Fox. With over 1 billion people watching around the world, Pastor Samuel Rodriguez read from Matthew Chapter 5 concluding his remarks by invoking the name of Jesus Christ. Yodit Tewolde Yodit Tewolde is a nationally renowned criminal defense attorney and legal analyst. Yodit has been a member of the Texas Bar since Since then, Yodit has dedicated her entire legal career to the practice of criminal law. After graduating law school, Yodit served as a law clerk for a state court judge. Following several years of prosecuting cases in both the adult and juvenile systems, Yodit transitioned over to criminal defense work.

Chapter 5 : Sigma Chi Song Lyrics | The Sigma Chi Historical Initiative

dwelling within the fabric international is a singular of ancient fiction, set in either historic India and in glossy the USA. half I is the tale of an Indian wood worker within the Buddha's time who turns into one of many world's first secular academics.

Pres[ edit ] Australia debuted on the international stage at the Summer Olympic Games held in Melbourne. Australia did not fare well in the competition, defeating only two sides, Singapore and Thailand , and finishing 12th. The seeds were sown for Australia to become a regular team in international events. The Australians improved on their position in Melbourne , to be ranked ninth at the completion of the games. The team finished in 12th place, with their sole victory coming over the United Arab Republic. Lindsay Gaze made his coaching debut, after playing at the Summer Olympics. Eddie Palubinskas was the holder of the second highest scoring average of the tournament. The Boomers defeated Mexico , 84-77, in an overtime game, and defeated Japan , 79-77, as they moved to the second round of the tournament for the first time, on their way to an eighth-place finish. Australia played their most successful tournament to that time, defeating Czechoslovakia , the Dominican Republic , the Philippines twice , and playing eventual gold medallist Yugoslavia , losing 77-79. The Boomers advanced to the semi-final round, and placed seventh. The Boomers defeated eventual silver medallist Italy , 84-77, in the preliminary round, but due to a three-way tie with Italy and Cuba , the team failed to advance to the final round, despite 5 wins and 2 losses. The Australians finished in fifth place. Australia advanced to the second round, following victories over Brazil and West Germany. A loss to Italy, and a point win over Egypt , left the Boomers in a must-win situation against Spain , to advance to the medal round. Spain went up big early in the first half, but the Boomers fought back, ultimately losing by a score of 93-87, ending their medal hopes with an Olympic best seventh-place finish. Losses to Uruguay , Angola , and the Soviet Union during group play kept the Boomers from advancing, and the team finished 17th. The Boomers breezed through the first round, losing only to gold medallist Soviet Union and silver medallist Yugoslavia. Finishing third place in their group, Australia advanced to the quarter finals, where they defeated Spain in a closely fought game, by a score of 77-74, sending the Boomers to their first ever semi-finals. At the Barcelona Olympic Games , the Boomers looked to prove their fourth-place run at Seoul was no fluke. The Boomers won the series 2-1 including attracting a then Australian basketball record 15, fans to the National Tennis Centre in Melbourne. The Boomers won the game 77-74 with Andrew Gaze scoring 43 points. Smyth, the teams long-time captain and point guard would play one last time for the Boomers in March in Game 4 of a 5-game series against the touring Magic Johnson All-Stars in front of a packed house 12, at the Sydney Entertainment Centre. The series however saw the Boomers without 4 of their usual starting 5 with only Andrew Vlahov who captained the side playing all 5 games. The Atlanta Olympic Games were another outstanding showing for Australia. Led by Andrew Gaze, and featuring Shane Heal , the team rolled through the early competition, losing only to silver medallist Yugoslavia, and scoring over points in every other preliminary game. In the quarterfinals, the Boomers played a hard fought game against Croatia. The game came down to the wire, as forward Tony Ronaldson hit an unforgettable 3-pointer to win the game, and advance Australia to the semi-finals. There they met the United States, who were powered by a stacked roster of professional NBA players, and the Boomers were dispatched 77-77. Lithuania would defeat Australia in the bronze medal game, but the Boomers equalled their fourth-place finish. The game, played at the Delta Center in Salt Lake City , was won 77-77 by the USA, though Heal topped all scorers with 28 points including hitting 8 of 12 three pointers. Heal had a running battle with NBA superstar Charles Barkley during the game with the two almost coming to blows at one point, though they hugged in mutual respect on-court after the game. Shane Heal and Andrew Gaze both finished among the top five scorers, with averages of 15.5 and 14.5 respectively. The Boomers finished the tournament respectably with wins over Canada and Brazil, and walked away with ninth place. Despite losses in both of their first two games, Australia recovered nicely, and won their next four games over Russia , Angola , and Spain , to propel them into the quarter finals, where they defeated Italy. Although their goal of medalling was not achieved, the Boomers gave the home crowd plenty to cheer about, on their way to a fourth-place finish. In early 1977, Australia entered the first ever Commonwealth Games basketball competition in their home city of Melbourne and went through the tournament undefeated to claim the gold medal. Bruton, and Jason Smith. Despite their efforts, the Boomers failed to qualify for the playoff rounds, and finished tied for ninth place. Despite his youth, Mills had a hot hand, scoring over 20 points on several occasions, and leading the team with an average of 22.5 points per game. Australia made the quarter finals, but gold medallists United States put the Boomers away late in the game, ending their run with a seventh-place finish. Two years later, the Boomers entered the London Olympic Games with arguably their most talented roster since 1960, though they were missing their star centre Andrew Bogut, who was out with a broken ankle. Australia made the quarter finals with a 3-2 win-loss record, but gold medallists United States put the Boomers away late in the game, ending their run with a seventh-place finish again. Following the London Olympics, Brett Brown announced his decision to step down as Boomers head coach, citing his desire to spend more time with his family in the United States. As of December 2010, Basketball Australia was yet to announce his replacement, although one of his assistants, dual National Basketball League championship winning coach with the New Zealand Breakers, Andrej Lemanis, was one of the favourites to win the job. After suffering an opening round loss to Slovenia, Australia bounced back, stringing together three consecutive wins over South Korea, Lithuania and Mexico, the first time in 16 years that Australia had won 3 consecutive matches at the FIBA World Cup.

Chapter 6 : Australia national basketball team - Wikipedia

Welcome to the Baby Boomers Social Club. Our main appeal is to Boomers (persons born between and ), but anyone who likes to have fun and wants to share an interest, sport, hobby or activity w.

By Michael Dimock For decades, Pew Research Center has been committed to measuring public attitudes on key issues and documenting differences in those attitudes across demographic groups. One lens often employed by researchers at the Center to understand these differences is that of generation. Generations provide the opportunity to look at Americans both by their place in the life cycle — whether a young adult, a middle-aged parent or a retiree — and by their membership in a cohort of individuals who were born at a similar time. Pew Research Center has been studying the Millennial generation for more than a decade. In order to keep the Millennial generation analytically meaningful, and to begin looking at what might be unique about the next cohort, Pew Research Center will use as the last birth year for Millennials for our future work. Anyone born between and ages 22 to 37 in will be considered a Millennial, and anyone born from onward will be part of a new generation. They should be viewed primarily as tools, allowing for the kinds of analyses detailed above. But their boundaries are not arbitrary. Generations are often considered by their span, but again there is no agreed upon formula for how long that span should be. At 16 years to , our working definition of Millennials will be equivalent in age span to their preceding generation, Generation X born between and By this definition, both are shorter than the span of the Baby Boomers 19 years — the only generation officially designated by the U. Census Bureau , based on the famous surge in post-WWII births in and a significant decline in birthrates after Unlike the Boomers, there are no comparably definitive thresholds by which later generational boundaries are defined. Millennials also grew up in the shadow of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, which sharpened broader views of the parties and contributed to the intense political polarization that shapes the current political environment. And most Millennials were between 12 and 27 during the election, where the force of the youth vote became part of the political conversation and helped elect the first black president. Yet the next generation — those currently 21 or younger — is even more diverse. Beyond politics, most Millennials came of age and entered the workforce facing the height of an economic recession. Technology, in particular the rapid evolution of how people communicate and interact, is another generation-shaping consideration. Baby Boomers grew up as television expanded dramatically, changing their lifestyles and connection to the world in fundamental ways. Generation X grew up as the computer revolution was taking hold, and Millennials came of age during the internet explosion. In this progression, what is unique for post-Millennials is that all of the above have been part of their lives from the start. The iPhone launched in , when the oldest post-Millennials were By the time they were in their teens, the primary means by which young Americans connected with the web was through mobile devices, WiFi and high-bandwidth cellular service. Social media, constant connectivity and on-demand entertainment and communication are innovations Millennials adapted to as they came of age. For those born after , these are largely assumed. Recent research has shown dramatic shifts in youth behaviors, attitudes and lifestyles — both positive and concerning — for those who came of age in this era. Beginning to track this post-Millennial generation over time will be of significant importance. Pew Research Center is not the first to draw an analytical line between Millennials and the generation to follow them, and many have offered well-reasoned arguments for drawing that line a few years earlier or later than where we have. Perhaps, as more data are collected over the years, a clear, singular delineation will emerge. We remain open to recalibrating if that occurs. But more than likely the historical, technological, behavioral and attitudinal data will show more of a continuum across generations than a threshold. As has been the case in the past, this means that the differences within generations can be just as great as the differences across generations, and the youngest and oldest within a commonly defined cohort may feel more in common with bordering generations than the one to which they are assigned. This is a reminder that generations themselves are inherently diverse and complex groups, not simple caricatures. In the near term, you will see a number of reports and analyses from the Center that focus on generations and change over time. Today, we issued a report looking at some of our longest running trends in political and social attitudes and values that continue to show significant generational divides on many critical dimensions. In the coming weeks, we will be updating demographic analyses that compare Millennials to previous generations at the same stage in their life cycle to see if the demographic, economic and household dynamics of Millennials continue to stand apart from their predecessors. And this year we will be launching a number of surveys of to year-olds to begin to look at technology use and attitudes in the next generation of American adults. Yet, we remain cautious about what can be projected onto a generation when they remain so young. Donald Trump may be the first U. Bush and Barack Obama shaped the political debate for Millennials, the current political environment may have a similar effect on the attitudes and engagement of post-Millennials, though how remains a question. We look forward to spending the next few years studying this generation as it enters adulthood. A previous version of this post misstated the ages of the youngest Millennials at two points in recent history. Under our revised definition, most Millennials were ages 5 to 20 on Sept.

Chapter 7 : Australian Boomers vs USA Dream Team Basketball | Queen of Tickets

A Sig I Am. The only Sigma Chi song more frequently sung than "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" is "A Sig I Am." Written in by three undergraduates of the Beta Chapter at Wooster, this century-old song can be heard echoing in every chapter house throughout the Sigma Chi world.

The World from Berlin: New statistics, though, indicate that the opposite is true. German commentators say Family Minister Ursula von der Leyen was naive to believe otherwise. Even better for von der Leyen, though, was that the numbers seemed to indicate that her family policies, pushed through in , were a success. Generous payments to couples who took time off work to have children seemed to be having the desired effect. On Tuesday, though, the German Federal Statistical Office released preliminary figures for all of , and the news is not pretty. Rather than the heralded rise in births, saw a 1. Conservative daily Die Welt writes: Their main goal is to increase the levels of women participating in the workforce. Paying benefits to parents, building more day-care centers and amending laws on child-support payments were meant to reduce adherence to the family model that advocates a working father and a stay-at-home mother. Family policies underwent a paradigm shift, and the new message was that mothers should be employed. As they see it, a woman is not emancipated if she defers her career goals to have children. And, according to this way of thinking, if a woman chooses to stay at home with her small child instead of sending it to day care, she is displaying a dangerous ignorance about early-childhood development. In the future, you can only hope that many couples will have children despite -- rather than because of -- these policies. Whenever she mixes with the media, she always has dapper clothes, perfect hair and a big smile. And even though she happily spends a lot of time in front of the cameras loudly praising the success of her policies, she still has time to take care of her many children. What an amazing role model! Playing fast and loose with statistics was irresponsible of and embarrassing for von der Leyen, and it has shattered her image. The shining example of a minister who is able to juggle children and a tough job without any problems has apparently done little to inspire people to follow her example. If the family minister is really interested in success, she has to be quite a bit braver and stop trying to get party allies and businesses to do the right thing with only voluntary agreements and gentle nudges. Day-care workers need to receive better training and earn more money so that parents will worry less about putting their children into day care. And the arrangements that lead many married women to stay at home for tax advantages need to be replaced by ones that tax individuals rather than couples. But if Ursula von der Leyen pursued them, of course she might fail and lose a little of her luster, but she just might make more normal women and voters feel a bit more like they are being paid attention to. There are a lot more factors that go into deciding to have a child than just governmental subsidies. Potential parents need to be confident that they will be able to take care of the child. And they will need to assess whether they have enough time for a baby and whether they can reconcile having a child with the plans they currently have for their lives and careers. But it is only one among many factors to consider in starting a family.

Chapter 8 : Boys Will Be Boys â€“ Sexual Assault and College | Envisioning The American Dream

You'll glean invaluable insights from industry thought leaders, from millennials to baby boomers, uncovering how you can leverage your talents to cultivate a more meaningful impact in - and beyond. It's time to maximize your impact at the International Leadership Summit.

Chapter 9 : Songs â€“ NW Delta Sig

The Dark Power of Fraternities. And the fourth is the fact that Boomers, the contemporary fraternity world is beset by a series of deep problems, which its leadership is scrambling to.