

Chapter 1 : Dramarama - Haven't Got A Clue Lyrics | MetroLyrics

After all, a clue is an insight or idea that points us towards a solution. To be without a clue is simply to be ignorant. However, a clue (also spelled clew) previously had a different meaning - a globular ball formed from coiling worms or the like or, more specifically, a ball of thread.

More puns are found in the "Arrivals at the Ball" section, of the form "Mr and Mrs X and their son or daughter According to Tim Brooke-Taylor twenty per cent of the show is ad-libbed. And so, as the hunter of time blasts the moose of eternity, and the dairy counter worker of fate sighs and grabs her mop The show does occasionally comment on the outside world, though from an innocent perspective. At the close of one show, the chairman asked the teams to read the cuttings that they had brought along with them, in the manner of fellow Radio 4 show The News Quiz. The teams proceeded to read their cuttings, but only to themselves, followed some interested murmurs from the teams and much laughter from the audience. It frequently pokes fun at itself and its supposed low quality. For example, Lyttelton was heard to exclaim at the end of a round: He never said anything about having to put up with both at the same time. Our version differs in just two ways. The mere mention of Lionel Blair will often bring roars of laughter in anticipation of an outrageous double-entendre based on his supposed homosexuality he is not gay. The game "Wobbling Bunnies" was introduced several times by Humph, often with eager anticipation by the panel and audience, but time pressures always meant the game was never actually played. The characters were developed into their own Radio 4 show, Hamish and Dougal. Likewise, occasionally on Just a Minute, a panellist will make a challenge of "Mornington Crescent". Chairman Jack Dee frequently pokes fun at Just a Minute, particularly its chairman Nicholas Parsons, whom he mimics in constantly emphasising the long experience of some panellists, and the fact that the programme can be heard all over the world. Best Comedy, Spoken Word Award Some early episodes of the series, including the first, were wiped in the late s. The Official Stage Tour visited 9 locations across England. It was a best of show, featuring favourite rounds from the past 35 years, and the guest panellist was Jeremy Hardy. The shows were not recorded for broadcast on Radio 4, although it was suggested that they may be recorded for release as part of the BBC Radio Collection.
